

Polo Sur

What is life like for an arctic fox, penguin, or polar bear? It's a lot about eating and not being eaten, but that's not all. None of them belong in Antarctica, but a purpose has brought them to this inhospitable and dangerous environment, isolated thousands of kilometers away from the rest of the continents. The South Pole is one of the most dangerous habitats of this planet, on which few species could survive.

Mike Bonales is a web designer and web comic author. He has produced comics for MAD Espana magazine, the Flash animated series Calico Electronico, and the BlueBBVA blog, as well as for other websites and publications.
